moved proof of the strug influences that ani-mate if The shock of almost certain war, ch so tropgly affected the money markets which so trongly affected the money markets a few days ago, and the almost certainty now that the catastrophe is only delayed, not averted, have faired to touch the basis of coling. Pric s, which remain where they shood before that shock came, and from the news received from the country of the disastrous effects of from upon the boils that fail to open, promises to go to higher figures. All the principal markets remained firm yesterday, and stoody. Liverpeol had good sales, and arrivals closed firm, while New Orleans was strong at its jet advance. Our market yesterday nad closed firm, while New Orleans was strong at its late advance. Our market yesterday had an active inquiry both from exporters and spinners, and sales were full. Prices strength-ened under the prevalent favorable influences, and an inspection of the table below will show that they made a clear advance, at which ad-vance the market closed steady. The New York Published Sales and years: "The genvalues the market closed steady. The New York Bulletin of Saturday, reports: "The gen-eral tone of the market has been rather better eral tone of the market has been rather better to day, and on contracts a slight advance is established, based on the more pacific advices from abroad as received during that genous. On spot there was little tencesey to a display of feeling of a decided character, and the market kept along in a comparatively easy uniform channel. The amounts offering were fair and about equal to the outlet, both as regards quantity and associaned, and when a full market rate was bid not much heatalion could be no lood about its acceptance. Holders, however, were not exactly in a humor to urge matters and merely accepted business as ers, however, were not exactly in a humor to nige a stiers and merely accepted business as it developed. One a tracts there has been an improvement pretty much the entire line. Early the market was comewhat vacilating; but upon the receipt of advices from abroad which were generally construed as indicating a more peaceful illustion, the turn of affairs was upward, and sellers managed to retain the advantage thereafter."

Mr. Loudon will begin paving the newly graded levee to-day. A largely increased force has been put on the grading, and things now look favorable to an early completion of the much needed work. The prospect for low water for some time to come will give him ample time to fix the levee so that our steamers will have plenty of room for the transaction of business.

BLUFF CITY

If alexander had got the other world he sighed for to conquer, and it had been as large in proportion to the one he was supposed to have vanquished as was the tobacco-pipe in proportion to the ordinary article, laid on our desk last night, Aleck would have exclaimed, in the larguage of the old man when his boy scared the horse he was breaking: "That is too big a boo for a coil!" However, the huge dimensions of the solacer are typical of the big-heartedness of the young and esteemed friend who so kindly remembered us. STEAM COTTON GIN
